

REPORTING STUDENT PROGRESS AND GRADES

In Charlottesville City Schools, we uphold high expectations for all students, ensuring equitable access to rigorous learning experiences aimed at fostering individual growth opportunities. To effectively communicate learning achievement and progress, our school system employs a variety of tools aligned with the Virginia Standards of Learning (SOL), the Portrait of a Graduate, and Charlottesville City Schools' learning expectations tailored to each grade level and content area.

Students' grades shall accurately reflect students' knowledge and skills mastery. The purpose of a grade is to communicate student achievement at a point in time. Grading practices are expected to be precise, resistant to bias, and motivational, acknowledging that students exhibit mastery in diverse forms and at varying rates. Grading shall use calculations that are mathematically sound, easy to understand, and correctly describe a student's level of academic performance through their mastery of grade level/ course standards. Grades will be accurate, supportive of student learning, and consistent. Importantly, grades are not influenced by student behavior, comparisons to peers, or teacher implicit biases.

Grading practices in Charlottesville City Schools will be:
